Being the balance of 100,000l., constituting the First Mortgage, and secured by a first charge on the entire undertaking and property of

THE CADIZ WATER WORKS COMPANY, LIMITED.

The Bonds are redeemable within three years, namely, on 1st October, 1876, at 110l. per debenture of 100l., being a bonus of 10l. each. Price of subscription—par, or 100l. per debenture. Interest is payable quarterly in each year, by coupons attached to the debentures, viz., on the 1st January, 1st April, 1st July, and 1st October. Calculating the bonus of 10l. per debenture, the return to subscribers will be nearly 12 per cent. per annum on the amount invested during the three years' term of the bonds.

JAMES BRUNLEES, Esq., M.I.C.E.

OFFICES—4 SKINNER'S PLACE, QUEEN VICTORIA STREET, E.C., LONDON.

The Directors invite subscriptions for 69,600l. Eight per Cent. First Mortgage Debenture Bonds (being the balance of 100,000l. constituting the entire debenture capital of the company), in bonds of 100l. each, payable as follows:—

£10 0 0 . . . . .	On application.
30 0 0 . . . . .	On allotment.
20 0 0 . . . . .	On March 2, 1874.
20 0 0 . . . . .	On April 1, 1874.
20 0 0 . . . . .	On May 1, 1874.

Subscribers will have the option of paying up all the instalments on allotment, and will be thereby entitled to interest at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum on the amount of each bond from January 1 last.

The debenture bonds are issued redeemable within three years, viz., on October 1, 1876, at 110l. per debenture, being 10l. bonus per debenture.

Reckoning such bonus of 10l. per debenture, the return to subscribers will be nearly 12 per cent. per annum on the amount invested.

Coupons for the interest at 8 per cent. per annum will be attached, payable quarterly, on January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1, in each year, at the bank of Messrs. Roberts, Lubbock & Co., Lombard Street, London.

The ordinary share capital of the company is 150,000l., of which the sum of 86,430l. has been allotted, and the sum of 61,740l. has been appropriated for the payment to the contractors, pursuant to the terms of the contract for the works; and 200,000l. in preferred shares, of which 184,430l. has been allotted.

The 100,000l. debentures, of which the 69,600l. now offered for subscription form part, constitute the whole of the debenture capital of the company, and are a first charge, both for principal and interest, on the entire undertaking, taking precedence over all the share capital of the company, both ordinary and preferred.

The payment thereof is secured by a first mortgage of the whole undertaking duly executed to trustees on behalf of the intended bondholders, securing the payment of the interest, principal, and bonus. The directors have satisfaction in announcing that the engineer of the company left England for Cadiz on January 8, with the object of remaining on the spot until the works are opened, expected to be in about three months.

The following is an estimate of the minimum income of the company, based on a consumption of only twelve gallons per head per diem, or less than one-half the daily consumption per head of London, Paris, Berlin, Madrid, and other large cities:—

The population to be supplied being 138,000, and the rate allowed by the tariff being 3s. 6d. per 1,000 gallons to private consumers, and 1s. 9d. per 1,000 gallons to the municipality, and the gratuitous supply being 285,120 gallons per diem, the gross revenue will amount to . . . £62,800 0 0

Deduct working expenses, estimated at 3d. per 1,000 gallons on the total supply of 882,540,000 gallons £7,889 0 0
And setting aside 10 per cent for a reserve fund and renewal of works 5,491 0 0

13,880 0 0

Leaving a net annual revenue of £49,420 0 0

The amount required for the interest on the entire debenture capital of the company being only 8,000l. per annum, the estimated net income, as above mentioned, is more than six times the amount required for the same.

In anticipation of the early completion of the works demand for water has already commenced, and the resident officers of the company are now actively engaged in concluding contracts with the municipalities and householders for the supply of the water.

Copies of the concessions and of the mortgage for securing the bondholders may be seen at the offices of Messrs. G. S. & H. Brandon, No. 15 Essex Street, Strand, W.C., London, the Solicitors of the company.

Provisional scrip certificates will be issued upon allotment, and will be exchanged for the bonds after due payment of all the instalments.

Failure to pay any instalment at the due date will render all previous payments liable to forfeiture.

Applications on the enclosed form, accompanied by a deposit of 10l. per bond, may be made to the company's Bankers, Messrs. Roberts, Lubbock & Co., Lombard Street, E.C.; to the Brokers, Messrs. George Burnand & Co., 69 Lombard Street, E.C.; or to the Secretary, at the Office of the Company.

In view of the ample margin of security presented by the large share capital of the company, and of the approaching completion of the undertaking, the directors feel warranted in recommending the bonds now offered as an unusually well-secured and profitable investment.

By order, B. G. KINNEAR, Secretary.
No 4 Skinner's Place, Queen Victoria St., E.C.

THE ACADEMY

A WEEKLY REVIEW OF LITERATURE, SCIENCE, AND ART.

WITH the Fifth Volume the ACADEMY entered at the beginning of the present year upon a new phase of its existence. Instead of 480 pages of text a year, it now publishes, in fifty-two weekly numbers, 1040 pages, each of which will contain one-fourth more matter than the old ACADEMY page.

Three-fourths of each number of the new ACADEMY is devoted to Literature of the Imagination, Travels and Antiquities, History and Biography, and includes regular notices of the Picture Exhibitions, the Music of the Season, and the current Drama, English and French. There are periodical news-letters on literary, artistic, and scientific subjects from the chief capitals of Europe, and from America; and an adequate space is set apart for correspondence between literary men, jottings of interest, publishers' announcements, personal news, and the like. In all these matters the ACADEMY tells people of all classes who are aiming at the higher culture, what to choose and what to discard, in unmistakeable terms and with promptitude.

The remaining fourth part of the periodical is occupied with scientific matters interesting to a smaller class of readers, but divested as far as possible of all unnecessary technicalities which render them uninteresting or unintelligible to the educated as distinguished from the scientific reader. The various departments of knowledge have now become so minutely specialised, that even the scientific man can no longer hope to keep pace with discovery in all directions at once, and beyond the limits of his own peculiar study occupies to a greater or less extent the position of the educated layman or general reader. So that the wants of the small scientific class are in this respect identical, or nearly so, with those of the larger reading public. These requirements vary in different countries and at different periods, and can only be ascertained by actual experience. Our experience during the past four years has been that the scientific matter to be found in the ACADEMY has been pitched in too high a key, or at least has been presented in too technical a form to be so practically useful even to the scientific reader in this country, and at the present time, as it might without any diminution of fulness or accuracy be made. We propose then to ourselves a much more difficult task than we have hitherto attempted, viz. that of making this department of the ACADEMY useful to all, and engaging the attention and interest of all educated persons in the progress of European knowledge.

This department will embrace Natural Philosophy, Theology, and the Science of Language, especially of the English Language and Dialects, and the very important and interesting study of Comparative Philology, in connection with the Mythology, Folklore, Manners, Customs, and Institutions of the various races of Mankind.

It may be asked, why retain the name ACADEMY if the paper is to be so entirely re-organised as to form to all intents and purposes a new critical organ?

We have re-organised the paper because we think that such a critical organ as we have described is wanted. As to the retention of the name, a few words of explanation are necessary.

Very few persons have, we think, understood what was meant by calling the old fortnightly periodical, which we now propose to supersede, the ACADEMY.

The word "Academy" suggests to most average Englishmen, in the first instance, the idea of a second-rate and pretentious private school. It is also the name of a chartered Institution in London, which has won a reputation for fairness and discrimination in hanging pictures. As the name of this periodical, it appears to have given the impression to some persons that we propose to ourselves to treat of matters exclusively interesting to schoolmasters and professors at the Universities. But in all European languages except the English an "Academy" means a central organ of sound information and correct taste in intellectual matters. The great French Academy founded by Richelieu has more particularly taken under its charge the maintenance of the purity of the French language. The Academies founded in the principal German Capitals, and elsewhere, in imitation of the French, have laid a greater stress upon the maintenance of correct information in matters of scientific knowledge; and the renowned Academy of France has added to itself special Academies having the same object.

Now it is in the sense in which the word is understood on the Continent, in the sense of a standard of correctness in intellectual matters, that the name was and is still applied to the ACADEMY Journal. The great national importance of concentrating the intellectual forces of a country is recognised in every country but our own; and this recognition has justified the employment of public funds for the maintenance of the Foreign Academies as public Institutions, and the partial support of their members. And the absence of such an Institution in England has had this result, that a larger amount of bad work both in literature and in science passes unchallenged in this country than in any other, standing upon the same level of civilisation.

What, then, in other countries is done for learning and science by means of an Institution supported at the public expense, we propose to accomplish in this country, not only for these but for all the materials of culture and refinement by means of a periodical subjected, after the English manner, to the economic conditions of supply and demand, viz. to keep the reader up to the mark of what is best in the world, to gibbet mercilessly what is bad, and to criticise with sympathetic fairness what falls between these two extremes.

Keeping thus always to the main stream of the best production, we shall have to point to Germany for Science, to France for Art, but to our own country for Poetry and Fiction, for the Literature of Manners and Society, for Travel and Adventure, as well as for the great philosophic ideas which are transforming the mental horizon of mankind.

But there is, we are firmly convinced, no necessary connection between setting up a standard of correctness and being unintelligible or unattractive to the average reader. It is true that much of the attractive writing in this country is deficient in accuracy, and perhaps no less true, that our own work hitherto has preferred accuracy to attractiveness. Still we believe that it is practicable to unite both these qualities in criticism; and by our elaborate organisation of departmental editing, we confidently expect that we shall be able, as we have determined, to unite them in our new issue.

Subscription for one year, including postage, 19s. 6d.; for six months, 9s. 9d.; payable in advance.

CONTENTS:

VOL. I.—THE PROJECTORS of the EDINBURGH REVIEW, FORFARSHIRE LAIRDS, THOMAS CAMPBELL, JOHN LEYDEN, ALEX. MURRAY, ORIENTALIST; JOHN MURRAY, ALBEMARLE STREET; GEORGE CHALMERS, RITSON PINKETON, &c.

VOL. II.—THE ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA, ANNA SEWARD and LYDIA WHITE, DUGALD STEWART, GODWIN, NIEBUHR, LORDS JEFFREY, BROUGHAM, and MURRAY, FRANCIS HORNER, THE ETTRICK SHEPHERD, MARIA EDGEWORTH, &c.

VOL. III.—SIR WALTER SCOTT.

"The cream of a generation of interesting men and women now gone from among us—these are the subjects of this important Memoir."—Saturday Review.

"Mr. Thomas Constable believes that it is in the latter part of his publishing career, when Sir Walter Scott becomes the central figure of a group of publishers, that the main interest of these three volumes lies, but that is not altogether our opinion. We think that the early life of Constable, when he was creating the publishing trade of Scotland out of the chaos which preceded him, is better worth considering than the melancholy end. . . . He was a genius in the publishing world."—The Times.

"Three interesting volumes. . . . Archibald Constable was a man of intelligence, spirit, and enterprise. In the course of his business life he had a large correspondence with most of the eminent authors of the early part of the present century, and a great number of these letters are printed in the volumes before us."—Daily News.

"Mr. Thomas Constable has accomplished this labour of love and duty with delicate gentleness and forbearance, but yet absolutely and unanswerably. . . . We heartily commend this book to the notice of all readers. Thanks to Mr. Muir and other libraries, we do not now need to possess every volume we wish to see, and we should think poorly of the taste of those who find many of its pages devoid of interest."—Guardian.

"These three volumes are of singular and lasting interest; for, besides setting clearly before us the relations of Scott to the firms of Ballantyne & Co. and Constable & Co., they present vivid pictures of the time, and of many distinguished persons."—Nonconformist.

"These volumes are decidedly additions to our knowledge of that great and brilliant epoch in the history of letters to which they refer."—Standard.

"The last volume (Sir Walter Scott) of this elaborate and interesting history is almost an independent work. It is written as a son's vindication of his father's character, his honour, and his name; and the son—we can say it with the greatest satisfaction—is successful."—Athenaeum.

"Constable had the eye of a statesman in detecting where guile and ignorance pressed most hardly on humanity; he planned the movements of his soldiers as well as encouraged them on their march. Even the Great Magician often employed his powers under Constable's directions and suggestions."—Examiner.

"Constable conferred benefits on all who spoke the English tongue."—Literary World.

"We have here one of the most satisfactory specimens of biography that has been written in modern times."—Bell's Weekly Messenger.

"The services of Constable to literature were immense. He deserved well of his country, and it is to be regretted that a career at one time so brilliant should have terminated in a manner so disastrous."—The City Press.

"The biographer has acquitted himself of his task with admirable tact and good feeling."—The Globe.

"Mr. Constable has provided a mine of wealth for the literary historian in the future. . . . There cannot be a doubt that these volumes, particularly the last one, are a valuable contribution to literary history."—Liverpool Albion.

"Mr. T. Constable has in these volumes not only erected a worthy memorial to his father's good name and really national services, but has filled up and enriched a valuable chapter in the literary history of the country."—The Scotsman.

"This is a most readable book. . . . The immortals are brought before us in long review, and we share in their struggles and triumphs and defeats as if we had been their contemporaries."—Glasgow News.

"Archibald Constable, by the magnitude and importance of his undertakings, and the princely liberality with which he remunerated authors, made Edinburgh the chief literary mart and emporium of all Europe. . . . Henceforward the world will see what he did for Scottish literature, and what he intended, and will unquestionably rank him among the truest benefactors of his country."—Inverness Courier.

"One looking at the contents of these volumes is quite confounded with the number of celebrated persons with whom, in the short space of twenty-five years, Archibald Constable came in contact. . . . His letters reveal a mind eminently sagacious, large, and liberal in its views."—Dundee Advertiser.

"It is scarcely too much to say of Archibald Constable that he created the publishing trade of Scotland, and revolutionised the business of publishing throughout Great Britain. 'The Grand Napoleon of the realms of print,' as described in this work and elsewhere, is undoubtedly a figure of high interest, and worthy to be handed down to posterity."—The Academy.
